SPIRITUALITY AS AN INDISPENSABLE PILLAR OF HUMAN LIFE AND SUCCESS

Divine N. Verkijika

Many people often tend to consider spirituality as a needless and independent part of the lives we live, but in truth there is no line that divides human, from spiritual, for the body is animated by a soul which is spiritual in nature. Moreover the laws of nature and spiritual laws are always in perfect harmony. And only when a man combines the two laws, does he find meaning, reason, and purpose.

All avatars and heroes of the past irrespective of their fields of expertise have always been known to be deeply spiritual in their private lives. This is so because they came to understand that spirituality not only is the basis of human life but also an indispensable condition for true and long lasting success, fulfillment and great achievements.

When the incarnate being learns of the existence of a force beyond his limitations either through experience, philosophy or accepted by faith. When we accept that we have a soul which will continue to live on when our human body disintegrates after death, we begin to see life in the genuine perspective.

This perspective is known as the perspective of light, light which is truth and truth which is the reality of who we are. To walk in the light means to see the world in a different way from those who believe that it begins and ends here on earth. And if one sees the world in the light perspective, and accepts the reality that we are not the body we wear but spirits in a process, he will tend to develop a better sense of understanding of the wondrous mysteries of life and therefore his approach to the circumstances of life shall not be the same as that of those who live in the darkness of ignorance.

No doubt it has been said that the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom, for spirituality begins and ends in God who in his fullness is spiritual in nature. Spiritual laws are coded in our souls just as the laws of nature are coded in matter. And because man is a combination of soul and matter, he therefore not only has material, but also spiritual characteristics and abilities. When we ignore the spiritual part of our lives, our spiritual faculties and abilities go dormant, making it difficult for us to overcome the limitations on our physical life. For the physical is animated from the spiritual and Spirituality works beyond the limitations of the material.

Through mind and emotions, the soul, spiritual in nature, seeks expression and expansion. This therefore implies that a man without a spirituality of his own is not so different from an animal for his mental and emotional faculties which are the most tangible things that differentiate us from animals, as well as which are the tools we need in other to live life as humans will be undeveloped.

Spirituality does not mean to belong to a religion, scientific or esoteric group, for by the very nature of our being, we are spiritual. Spirituality is simply that we strive to understand the laws of nature, and the spiritual laws which are already written in our body and soul respectively, so as to live in harmony with them. That is why our ancestors preached that, know thyself and thou shall know the universe and God. Nevertheless, a very important law of life which almost everybody seems to agree on is the necessity for mankind to live in communities, for where two or more are gathered, the laws of nature and spirit will be in favor of them.

The man who denies his soul the possibility to express itself, by ignoring or rejecting spirituality, denies himself the possibility to be fulfilled, and to achieve greater things in life. Connecting with the spiritual should therefore be of prime importance to any man whose soul seeks expression, expansion, fulfillment, success and or authentic life achievements.

Anybody can have a body, but it takes spiritual awareness to understand where we come from, where we are going to and most essentially how to make use of where we are.
